

I disagree with the idea that media outlets should be allowed to call me on the telephone to tell me to listen to or watch a particular station.

I consider such calls to be telemarketing calls. After all, I do "pay" for that media consumption by listening to or watching the advertisements that accompany it.

I have received prerecorded telemarketing calls in the past from radio stations, and they have always annoyed me. I hope they are prohibited.

Thank you.